THE LONE RANGER TOURNAMENT FORMAT

Each member will tee off on the 10th hole

On the 10th hole, team player A will be The Lone Ranger and team members B C&D will play as a team

On the 11th hole team member B will be The Lone Ranger and members A C&D will play as a team

On the 12th hole team member C will be The Lone Ranger and members A B&D will play as a team

On the 13th hole team member D will be The Lone Ranger and team members A B&C will play as a team

This rotation sequence will continue through the 18th hole

The Lone Ranger format considers a team members handicap for scoring

Just enter each team member's gross score per hole and designate on the scorecard The Lone Ranger for each hole

The golf shop will enter each team members gross score into the GHIN system

The golf genius system will calculate each team member's net score per hole

For example on the 10th hole, if The Lone Ranger makes a net five and team member C has the lowest score of a net four for the non Ranger team, the total team score will be a 9 (5 + 4) net score for hole 10

The golf genius system will enter the combined net score for that hole

After play the system will Add all the holes together in order to determine the final team score for the tournament

The system will identify first, second, third, and last place team

A breakfast ball on the first tee only and is the ball in play and two anytime mulligans are also the ball in play, bunkers are in play.

If there is a three-man team golf genius will assign a blind for the 4th member
